SACRAMENTO LEADERS IN LAW

For more than 15 years,
Miller & Associates®, Attorneys LLP
has been DOING the
RIGHT THING

Creative Family Law Solutions
During Difficult Times®

“We focus on doing the right thing,” says Joshua Miller, Certified Family Law Specialist and cofounder of Miller & Associates®, Attorneys LLP. “This starts with our attorneys and staff educating potential clients of their litigation, mediation, and collaborative divorce options. Once they choose an option, our focus is on getting a quality result that is cost effective and consistent with the law, while trying to minimize the emotional impact on our client and their family. This model of trying to do the right thing every step of the way has given our firm great success.”

Miller & Associates® firm mantra is to handle every case with compassion, to provide options and creative solutions, and to provide law-based, efficient results to clients. “We are a team. All of our attorneys and staff are discussing and brainstorming facts and legal issues of our cases. With our combined 40 plus years of divorce and family law experience, we have the knowledge and resources to provide great results,” says cofounder Chad Miller, a Certified Family Law Specialist.

Founded in 2008 by Joshua and his twin brother, Chad, who are both Certified Family Law Specialists, Certified Divorce Mediators, and Certified Collaborative Divorce Attorneys, Miller & Associates® has grown to become one of the largest family law practices in the Sacramento area. As managing partners, the Miller brothers manage their other litigation attorneys, while also managing their own litigation and mediation caseloads. The firm has built a reputation of competently handling high net worth divorces, in both litigation and mediation/collaborative settings, with extensive experience working with forensic experts and business valuation experts during divorce proceedings.

THE POWER OF MEDIATION

Miller & Associates® offers aggressive, experienced, and compassionate representation. For over 15 years, the firm has assembled a team of family law attorneys who provide clients with both excellent legal counsel and compassion. This client-centric approach is reflected in their many positive online reviews, many of which credit the team for the “fair settlement” they received.

For clients that seek to avoid litigation, the Millers are highly trained in both mediation and collaborative divorce models. Joshua comments, “These models provide the confidentiality that our high net worth clients appreciate, but more importantly, these models can get the parties to the finish line quickly while minimizing the financial impact of divorce and minimizing the emotional impact to clients and their children. Our clients appreciate that we offer cost-effective alternatives to litigation.”

“Divorce is a difficult process, often made much worse by the high-conflict nature of litigation,” says Chad. “When you litigate a divorce, you lose control over the outcome and the creative solutions that you could achieve if your divorce was mediated,” he says. “Judges are bound by the confines of the law. They don’t have the option to be creative in their rulings. In mediation, it is never a win-lose situation. There’s an opportunity to find creative solutions in mediation. Our mediation clients come out of the divorce process satisfied in that they were able to work together to reach their agreement and save significant attorney fees by not litigating. That’s also very important when you have children, because it reduces the impact of the divorce on them.”
